Home-Coming of Miss Ida Sirr

Big Reception and Dance in Davidson's Hall

Friday, the 4th inst., was a pleasant and memorable date in the calendar of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sirr as it marked the return home, after an absence of upwards of three years, of their only daughter, Ida, who has for the period mentioned been resident in the Queen City of Canada, Toronto. Miss Sirr was timed to arrive on the noon train at 12.07, but No. 1 behoved itself to be on bad behavior on Friday and did not pull up at our depot until after three o'clock. Besides Mr. Sirr and his four stalwart sons, quite a number of friends were on hand and gave Miss Sirr a hearty welcome to her new home on the wild and rolling prairie. The family reunion was complete. Needless to say Miss Sirr observed quite a difference between the capital of Ontario and Redcliff, but with that sportsmanship which is a characteristic of the family she said, from what she had heard of the little prairie town, she was sure she would like it. The homecoming was celebrated quietly "en family" in the afternoon, but the evening celebrations were carried out in quite a royal manner, the guests beginning to arrive shortly after six o'clock. Miss Sirr must have felt intensely pleased by the hearty welcome she received from all who had the pleasure of being present at her reception and a most enjoyable evening was the result. Assembled in the drawing room and under the benign guidance of Mr. Donald Cameron Mackay, who presided at the piano, and assisted by Miss Torrie Wright who is a host in herself on the violin, we had a rare feast of music. Songs were contributed by Misses Wedderburn and Miller, and Messrs. William Robinson and A. Rollins McLeish, while at times the whole company would get round Mr. Mackay at the piano and join in a good old song and chorus. A summons to supper at 8 o'clock found the company all seated round the festive board and a splendid supper, simply put the cap on what was already an assured success, everyone feeling at home, and joke and laughter echoed from the walls. Before quitting the supper-room, Mr. D. C. Mackay who is a very old and tried friend of the family rose in his place and said, "before leaving the table, he had a pleasant duty to perform, by a happy coincidence, Miss Sirr had arrived home on her mother's birthday, and he wished while heartily welcoming Miss Ida home, to propose many happy returns of the day to Mrs. Sirr, and trusted she would be spared to long life and much happiness." The toast was drunk with enthusiasm.

The guests returned to the drawing room, and dancing was heartily enjoyed till the "wee sma' 'oor ayont the twal." The splendid evenings fun came to a close all too soon, and everyone expressed the pleasure they had experienced in being present. The following is a list of the guests: Mrs. Percy Sirr, Misses Wright, Wedderburn, Miller, T. Lavelle, Mrs. Robinson, Messrs. Morrison, D. C. Mackay, A. Rollins McLeish, W. Robinson, J. W. Hall, C. T. Hall, Lundahl and Nicholson, with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sirr, Miss Ida Sirr, and Joseph, Percy, Austin and Harold Sirr.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Postmaster C. T. Hall had quite a pleasant surprise last Tuesday week when his father walked in to see him at the drug store, Dad having stepped out the six odd miles from the Hat. Mr. Hall, senr., home is in Waterford, Ont., but he has been visiting around Indian Head district and thought he wouldn't be seeing the West thoroughly if he didn't have a peep at this Redcliff which people are speaking about. Mr. Hall made no bones about saying "Redcliff is the smartest little new town in my memory, which is good goods from a born Canadian. Our visitor left for home on Monday, taking in Fort Qu'Appelle on his way East.

George Eccles, who was so badly injured a few weeks ago at the C.P.R. roundhouse in the Hat, has been discharged from the hospital and is recuperating here, staying with his brother, W. S. Eccles of the Brick Plant. George had a hearty welcome from his many friends and looks remarkably fit, considering the knocking about he had. He speaks very highly of the kind treatment he experienced at the hands of the hospital authorities.

Mr. Wellington Stauffer, one of our worthy citizens, informs us that on April 12th of this year he planted on sod breaking 4 bushels of Burbank potatoes. The soil was disced 3 times and received no further attention. On Oct. 5th, Mr. Stauffer had the gratification of taking up from the above planting, no less than 215 bushels of fine potatoes, which sold at 90 cents per bushel in Medicine Hat. These potatoes were grown in sec. 28-7-12, range 7, and is a remarkably good showing for this dry year in Sunny Southern Alberta.

London, Nov. 18.—"As the whole of the signatures" says the covering letter accompanying the Crippen petition, which Newton and Co. presented today to the Home Secretary, "have been obtained spontaneously and in no way by canvas, or anything of that kind, we venture to think that a very large number of serious thinking people have a very strong feeling that whatever suspicion this case may offer, the certainty of guilt has not been proved against our client."

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 18.—Myron Crippen, father of Dr. H. H. Crippen, is believed to be dying here. Mr. Crippen is 83 years old and has been failing rapidly as the result of constant worry over his son. Physicians say the father may die before the son.

The Redcliff Dramatic Club

Concert in Aid of Presbyterian Building Fund

Friday night last saw a large and fashionable audience assembled in Davidson's hall, to assist the local Dramatic Club, to swell the fund in aid of the Presbyterian church and a most successful entertainment was the result, a good sum being raised for the church, which we understand is now practically out of debt, another feather in our village's well decorated cap! Rev. W. T. Beattie occupied the chair, and in a few well chosen remarks, thanked the Dramatic club for providing the concert to aid in reducing the burden on his church and said that if every one else showed a similar spirit of friendliness, the church would very soon be in the best possible standing.

The concert was vastly enjoyed by the large audience present, encores being quite frequent. Misses Millar and Wedderburn again delighted their friends, with their sweet voices, which added to an always refreshing willingness to assist in making these evenings a success, swell these young ladies popularity. Rev. Mr. Beattie, who is a host in himself, and is a most finished vocalist, fairly captured the home with his "Veterans Song," "Annie Laurie" (encore) and "Fiddle and I." The other items were all well rendered and voiceferously received, the "piece de resistance" being the closing sketch, by Messrs. D. C. Mackay and A. Rollins McLeish, depicting a negro artist, a broken picture and his eccentric and demoralized servant or handy (?) man. The finishing part of the sketch, a burlesque fight with boxing gloves, simply throwing the audience into paroxyms of laughter.

The following is the full program: Song, "Oh, Promise me," Miss Wedderburn; song, "Veterans Song," Rev. W. T. Beattie; song, "Banks of Loch Lomond," Mr. Robert Hamilton; recitation, "The Cremation of Sam McGee," Mr. C. T. Hall; song, "Alton Water," Mr. W. Robinson; duet, "Crokit Bawbee," Miss Miller and Mr. Hamilton; dance, "Irish Jig," Mr. Jas. S. Bennie; song, "Asleep in the Deep," Mr. R. G. Warner; sketch, Two visiting colored gentlemen; recitation, "The Alarm," Mr. Warrer; song, "Fiddle and I," Rev. W. T. Beattie; song, "Roses," Mr. Dave Winter; sketch, "Black Art," Jones, an artist, Mr. D. C. Mackay, and Jasper, his servant, Mr. A. Rollins McLeish. Mr. D. Cameron Mackay, musical director of the Club, accompanied the singers throughout in his usual satisfactory manner.

WE INTRODUCE OURSELVES

In launching the first number of the "Redcliff Review" unto the notice of a critical public we naturally feel very like the man who is on trial for his life. The verdict of our immediate jurors in and around this village as well as that of our journalistic peers is what we await, and to a literary youngster the tension is trying. Redcliff has had such a phenomenal run of success, since the townsite was placed upon the market, that we considered the time was ripe to issue a paper. We do not place a very ambitious sheet before you, but we must "creep before we gang," and it will be our first endeavor to give you week to week, the best we have in us, and all the latest news and gossip; We will run on a purely independent basis, and while not wishing at any time to run counter to any of our patrons, will give the news of the week without fear or favor. We thank everyone from the townsite owners, (the Redcliff Realty Co.) to the smallest advertiser and subscriber, for a spontaneous support, which is as gratifying as it is encouraging. Your Editor will do his utmost with the proffered assistance of many friends to uphold the dignity of the press and present a little paper to the people which they will be delighted to take into their homes.

TELEGRAPHIC TICKS.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—Mr. Henri Bourassa publishes in Le Devoir a reply to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's letter in La Presse, heading the article "Laurier, Berthiame, Dansereau and Co." and beginning with the statement that the fraternal embrace of these gentlemen marks the dreadful fall of the man who for so long dominated the public life of his country. Commandant Fortin may be the father of the Canadian Navy. That is possible, but Sir Wilfrid's Navy is only Canadian in time of peace, it is Imperial in time of war. Mr. Fielding proclaimed it, Laurier admitted it, the first Lord of the Admiralty confirmed it, and so did Mr. Brodeur and Sir Frederick Borden."

Mr. Bourassa accused Sir Wilfrid of "taking liberties with clauses and facts" saying in part "he forgets that the famous clause which he invokes, falsifying it, will only call Parliament together after the fleet has already been a fortnight at sea and perhaps sunk, leaving such slaves as the Rivees, the Gervais and Belinds the right to approve or blame the action of the Government.'

Proceeding to speak of the future, Mr. Bourassa says that there can be no mistaking the character of the contest in the future. Let neither Conservative nor Liberal be deceived. The fight of to-morrow which has been preparing for the past ten years will not be fought between two armies morally decimated, and whose battle flags cover no longer an idea or a principle. The battle will be fought out between Imperialists and Autonomists. The problem will be posted squarely and fairly and the Canadian people will choose between two principles and whatever may be the issue, there will be no civil war as timid people fear. There will be, of course, people like Brodeur in 1896 and a Hughes of our own day, but with such demagogues the bark is worse than the bite. The minority will accept loyally the spirit of the majority, preserving, of course, the right, which is essentially British, to use every effort to bring the majority to think as they do."

The bullet that brought down McKennan passed through the door. The Italian was in the attacking party.

The agents pulled their guns and proceeded with the destruction of the liquor, which in the two places was valued at several hundred dollars. ## CABLE NEWS.

London, Nov. 19.—Yesterday's brief sessions of the Houses of Parliament are likely to prove to be the turning point in the history of the House of Lords as at present constituted.

The older Conservatives view the march of events with anxious concern and are loudly lamenting the disappearance of the hereditary principle the basis of the Upper Chamber, but whatever may result a second appeal to the nation arising from the struggle between the two Houses seems certain. Henceforth, it seems probable an elective and selective basis will enter into the constitution of the House of Lords.

Interest in the situation has now been transferred to the constituencies. The belief now is that the House of Lords will not attempt to pass the second reading of the Veto Bill on the conditions imposed by Asquith. Mr. Asquith will open the campaign with a speech at the National Liberal Club to-day. He is expected to develop the Government's policy at length. All the other leaders are booked for speeches in quick succession.

Much criticism and complaint are heard on the Conservative side that the Government has precipitated the elections at an inconvenient time. Both sides, however, profess the utmost confidence in the outcome of an appeal to the country.

In replying to Mr. Asquith yesterday, Balfour said the Unionists had not the slightest objection to an immediate election but the Prime Minister had acted in an unprecedented manner in dissolving on an old register of voters. Balfour admitted that the election could have only been delayed only a few weeks or months, but the Prime Minister might have chosen a less inconvenient date to traders. He hoped all moderate men in the future would see in joint conferences the machinery for settling questions which had reached a deadlock. He thought the Unionists might gain from the precipitate haste of the Government to run away from any action of the House of Lords. Balfour concluded by denouncing the policy pursued by the Government.

Hon. Joe Martin said he had listened in vain for an adequate reason for dissolution which was outrage on democratic institutions. He had no confidence whatever in the Government and their action with regard to the House of Lords for he did not believe they were in earnest or had any intentions of carrying out to its legitimate conclusion the issue they had raised. The Government had made it impossible for the King to do other than refuse the guarantee sought for the creation of enough new peers to swamp the normal majority in the Lords.

One hundred and nineteen Suffragettes were arrested yesterday evening and discharged at Bow Street Police Court to-day at the request of Winston Churchill.
